The Republican Party and the South.

[Translated from the German (N. Y.) Abend Zeitung.]

Never before has the Republican party had such an opportunity to become the predominant party of the South as has been tendered to it by Stanbery's and Johnson's last attempt to subvert the spirit of the reconstruction acts.

This attempt to again put in question the ultimatum of the 2d of March, and to reopen the conflict which was supposed to be closed by it will, instead of pacification, create terror and confusion among the large majority of Southerners.

The sad experience of the two last years has convinced the thinking classes of the South—first, that Johnson has not the power to break the will of Congress. Second, that every one of his attempts to accomplish that end has injured the South, that is, has forced it to submit to conditions much more severe than would have been imposed by Congress without Johnson's untimely interference. It is these convictions which effected such a prompt and seemingly willing submission of the South under the provisions of the acts of March 2d and 23d. Among the thousands of warnings that came forth from the leaders of the late rebellion, the one main idea was always predominant. If we do not now accept the proffered ultimatum, then we shall fare worse. The next step Congress will take will be to follow Thad. Stevens' and Butler's advice—confiscation—and perhaps still worse. At all events military rule indefinitely will then be the watch word.

Therefore, the first thought that will run through the mind of all Southern political leaders can be no other but: Now will the threatening storm break loose and you shall have to expiate for Johnson's attempt to subvert the will of Congress. The latter, in order to repulse the President's attacks upon its authority, and aggrieved by this unexpected and frivolous disturbance of a hopeful solution for the reconstruction question and the nation's peace, may be led far beyond its former intentions by enacting much stormer measures. We may expect the worst.

The South will prepare itself for the worst, and more, the South will deem it but natural and nearly excusable if Congress, enraged at Johnson's usurpation, considers itself relieved from its duty to stand by the ultimatum of March the 2d, and it will be an agreeable surprise, yea, filled with manfulness toward Congress, should the latter abstain from enacting more stringent measures.

This is in our estimation the reason why the time is most opportune for the Republican party to gain a strong foot hold in the Southern States. It is not sufficient in order to attain such desired object to shape out of the colored people of the South a class of loyal "voting cattle," as the Democracy are pleased to call them and to form, with them and a small number of white Unionists, a spare and weak majority, which for the future will and must prove unreliable. It is much more necessary for the party to gain proselytes in the ranks of that class which, through intelligence, education, social position and character, will continue to lead and shape the politics of that section, although that class, through force of circumstances, may be for some time yet excluded it from taking an active part in the management of the Government.

It is childish to attempt to delude one's self about the fact that there may be found, among the leaders of the rebellion a greater amount of intellectual capacity, experience and statesmanlike ability than under the poor ignorant negroes and the majority of the small, insignificant white Unionists, who, in turn may produce a larger amount of good will. The latter may be in time of war, or in times immediately after the war, a sufficient equivalent for ability or intellectual worth, but it will not suffice for a normal and peaceable solution of the social system.

The Republican party must either gain as adherents a considerable number from among the so-called better class of the South, or it will not be able to hold and control in future a majority, which at present it may with painful assiduity possibly obtain, through the negro vote and military rule.

The former may take place, if Congress abstains from punishing the South for Johnson's sins. But should Congress, in its just indignation, consider the ultimatum of the 2d of March as torn and destroyed, and impose upon the South conditions of a severe character, then all the hopes of an early settlement of our difficulties and of a friendly intermingling will be destroyed, partisanship will degenerate into fiendish strife between extremes, the end of which no one can foretell, while during the time this strife is raging, the most material interests of the Republic will be shipwrecked. On the contrary, if Congress, with a firm hand but a cool head, at once grinds the Johnsons to powder, and not only does not deviate from its given word to the South, but emphatically reiterates and confirms it, it may reasonably be with certainty predicted, that the fears the South entertained about Congress will at once be changed into esteem, which esteem will soon breed full confidence and attachment.

The time has arrived when it is to be decided whether the hate and passion which naturally grew out of the war, or cordial statesmanship shall be the ruling spirit of the future of this bleeding and torn country. If the former is adopted, then those conflicts of political and social views and interests which formed the culminating points of the late war will be perpetuated. If the latter is accepted, then can the corner stone be laid for a more amicable and salutary partisanship than was ever before witnessed in the United States.

The only thing necessary to accomplish this is, for the majority of Congress to oppose all attempts to re-open old sores, and to give to its programme, which was heretofore based in the main upon mere legal forms, such an extension as to embrace the material welfare of the whole nation.

The terrible distraction in which the Southern people are plunged, will undoubtedly cause the latter to welcome with joy and thankfulness any measure of a national character, and which may be beneficial to both sections.

If, for instance, Congress, after having summarily disposed of Mr. Stanbery's opinions, would, by liberal donations for public schools, and ample appropriations for the construction of the Mississippi levees, prove to the South that they considered the most important moral and spiritual wants of the South as the most important ones of the whole nation, such a course would prove more beneficial towards a true and lasting reconstruction, as well as towards laying a solid foundation for a Southern party of progress, than all the separate legislation and special acts may accomplish.

Submarine Mountains off the Coast of California.—The Bulletin gives some interesting facts with regard to the project of a submarine telegraph between this port and Japan and China, via the Sandwich Islands. It appears that a very extensive series of soundings was taken, with reference to such a project, some ten years ago, by Lieut. Brooks, of the United States Coast Survey. In the course of these soundings the interesting fact was developed that about three hundred miles west of Golden Gate, and parallel with the Coast Range and Sierra, there exists a range of submarine mountains, with an average depth on their summit of about two miles. This range is supposed to run parallel with the coast, and appears to be as distinctly defined as the two ranges upon the land. Beyond this submarine mountain the ocean presents a nearly level plateau to within a short distance of the Sandwich Islands. Lt. Brooks says there would be less difficulty in laying a cable from San Francisco to the Islands than was in laying one from Ireland to Newfoundland. The time will undoubtedly come when this project, which seems so chimerical now, will be an accomplished fact, demanded by the great commercial interest between the two continents, the future importance of which is already looming up with no insignificant proportions.

Rebel Historians.—The Richmond correspondent of the New York Herald, says in relation to the histories in preparation by Jeff. Davis and A. H. Stephens:

"Mr Davis' history will be beyond all comparison the most important work of the present century. It is said he is anxious to see the work which is now being prepared by Alexander H. Stephens, with a view to reply to certain charges which it is presumed from certain foreshadowings furnished by his private conversations, he will make against Mr. Davis. History will have no more valuable contributions than both those works. The relations of the writers during the war were of a character to justify the belief that their commentaries upon each other will not be very favorable."

FROM PUGET SOUND.

The following intelligence is from the Olympia Tribune of the 3d inst.:

SURVEYING PARTY.

Mr. W. H. Carlton, of the Engineer Corps of the N. P. R. R., with a full company of assistants, left on Wednesday, to survey the Cowlitz pass of the Cascades. After this is done, if there is time, he is to examine the Skagit pass to ascertain its practicability for a railroad. Mr. J. S. Hurd, in charge of another company, left on Thursday for Seattle, with instructions to examine the Snoqualmie pass. If when that survey is completed there is time sufficient, he is also to examine Cady's, or the Wenatchee pass, farther north. So if we cannot now hear the snorting of the iron horse, we have the satisfaction of knowing that critical instrumental observations are being taken of all the passes from the Cowlitz north, with a view of ascertaining the actual light of every gorge in the course a railroad would take—information no man is now possessed of.

MAIL ROUTE IN YAKIMA.

Yakima and Klikitat counties are entirely deprived of mail conveniences, after leaving the Columbia river. This is a serious drawback to that section of the country, which is every day assuming more importance and attracting thither farmers and cattle herders, to take advantage of the vast range for cattle, the valley of the Yakima offers. Several of our citizens have gone there to locate, and others propose soon to follow. To partially remedy the evil above alluded to, a petition addressed to Postal Agent Brooks, has been drawn up and signed by many public men a leading citizens, asking that a mail route be established from the Dalles to Fort Simcoe at the county seat of Yakima county. We hope a request so reasonable and manifestly just, will be granted. Our delegate, a resident of that part of the Territory, and who can more readily appreciate the necessity than we, should use his endeavor to secure this much desired object.

A RUMORED BREAK UP.

We hear it rumored that the Steilacoom is soon to be broken up. We cannot inform us that no order has been received to that effect, but that such would be the case is not entirely improbable. The order started from the fact that Rev. Mr. Hunt, chaplain of the post, has been ordered East. Whatever may be done, we believe that the order that operated to prevent an order of retirement to be carried into effect eighteen months ago are forcible now, and the military authorities should hesitate before such a measure is carried out.

IN GOOD CONDITION.

The steamer New World was hauled on the beach yesterday morning for the purpose of examining in the upper timbers of the hull. The copper on her bottom is in as perfect condition as when first on, no where, not a rotten timber or plank anywhere, not a timber but undergone a thorough examination, and the result of the inspection proves her as sound in every respect and capable for service. These facts are apparent to examine her, unless they look the appearance of a beer keg, or with a couple of beer kegs held over their eyes. She has been newly painted and presents a splendid appearance.

THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILDREN.—The late Dr. Henry Ward, when once asked by a parent to draw up a set of rules for the government of children, replied by an anecdote:

Dr. Hitchcock, he said, was riding in the country and when he made him [illegible] Plymouth woods—a place in which travelers always got lost, and [illegible] out at the point they started from. [illegible] cock, on entering the woods directed [illegible] met an old woman and asked her [illegible] some directions for passing through [illegible] as to fetch up at Plymouth rather than which. "Certainly," she said, "I will tell you with the greatest pleasure. You keep right on until you get to the Ways [illegible] and then you will come to a place where [illegible] roads branch off. Then you must stop and consider and take the one that seems to you [illegible] to bring you out right."

He did so, and came out right. Dr. Ward [illegible] "I have followed the worthy and [illegible] lady's advice in bringing up my children; not think anybody can do better, at [illegible] cannot."

Good common sense, doubtless, is often [illegible] than all set rules, but the thing is to have [illegible]

NOT DOWN IN THE BILLS.—The S. F. [illegible] of July 29th relates the following:

A scene not down in the bills was [illegible] Maguire's Opera House during the [illegible] Richard the Third, Saturday evening. [illegible] tor" rag his sword through the body of [illegible] VI," a little boy in the dress circle [illegible] out: "O, mamma, he's gone and killed him!" and thereupon commenced blubbering with a will. The audience did not immediately appreciate the cause of this sudden outburst of infantile grief but as the truth dawned on them there went up such a shout as made the roof shiver. The King (Mr. Anderson,) who lay on the stage dramatically dead as a stone, looked up to see what was the matter. The scene was spoilt, but the crowd enjoyed the contretemps keenly and went home in the best of humor.

San Francisco, in proportion to its size, is the busiest seaport in the world. Her annual exports are about 70,000,000, and her imports nearly as much, the manufactures are worth $20,000,000, the real estate sales amount to about $12,000,000 and the cash value of the land, building and movable property of the city is about $200,000,000, although assessed for taxation at $80,000,000. It sends away about forty tons of silver and six tons of gold every month—the former metal in bars fifteen inches long and five inches square, the latter in smaller bars about six inches long, three inches wide and two inches thick. Wagons loaded with the precious metals are seen in the streets nearly every day.

The Debt and Taxes.

The most common occupation of many party journals is that of harping on the financial condition of the country, with a view of exciting discontent and hostility against the Republican Union party. Many persons who contributed all their influence to bring on the state of affairs that created the debt and necessitated taxation, employ a great deal of time in the vain endeavor to fix the responsibility for this state of things on others. Some, as the editor of the Albany Dem crat demand repudiation as a remedy for the inconvenences caused by the debt, and it is apparent that every person connected with the Democratic party, except the few who may happen to possess some of the Government securities, would gladly welcome so dishonorable a proceeding as repudiation, if that object could only be accomplished. Now it might possibly be well for these discontented individuals to remember that in case of a great emergency such as they are always predicting, the Northern people could find a better way of obtaining relief than by resorting to repudiation. It might occur to them that the better course would be to compel those who caused the debt, to pay it. Confiscation is much more likely to be adopted as a remedy than repudiation. For which proceeding is the nearer to justice,—to force those who occasioned the debt to pay it, or to repudiate the obligations which the Government entered into with those who, in good faith, advanced their money to defend the country in times of emergent danger?

"Eminent Financiering"

As a general rule personal matters are of no interest to the public, and our custom is to obtrude them as little as possible. Had not the affair of which we are now about to speak, been made a subject of comment by a newspaper published in this city, we would never have alluded to it in this public manner. As it is the matter, though personal is no longer private and we shall therefore speak of it with reservation. For a considerable time prior to July 1866 the proprietor of this paper had in his employment a person of the name of William Davidson. This person, like all others employed in the office, received each week his pay in full for services. At the date above mentioned, he was, for good reasons, discharged from his employment. After a time, he obtained in the Herald office employment, somewhat similar, perhaps, to that which had been given him in the OREGONIAN establishment. Whereupon the Herald published the following notice to

> William Davidson Esq for years the accountant financial manager and principal book keeper of the Daily and Weekly Oregonian establishment having after this date in the General Business Agency of the Herald publishing Association and the stock of the said Association duly acknowledged and confirmed by the Daily and Weekly Herald

The avowed object of this notice was to recommend Mr Davidson favorably to the public, which it was hoped would redound to the interest of the company into whose service he was soon well known to convey the impression that the reading the OREGONIAN has achieved was due entirely to his "efficient financial management" which it was supposed would contribute materially to Mr Davidson's advantage should he ever be preparing to bring against the proprietor of this paper. For, after Davidson was discharged, he announced his purpose to sue for a thousand dollars which he claimed was due him for services rendered, although he had regularly received his pay for several years up to the very day he was dismissed. Shortly before the time appointed for his trial, the Herald published a statement evidently for the purpose of creating an impression in the plaintiff's favor in which was asserted that Mr David son had had the financial management of the paper (Oregonian) for three and a half years, and it was the test to many of the disinterested observers that a large amount of financial success was due to his management, although he had been forced to commence a suit to recover a out four (six) thousand dollars justly due him for his services. Of course under the circumstances, the proprietor of the OREGONIAN could make no reply to these base and unscrupulous assumptions. The case came to trial, and Mr Davidson did not recover anything. The attempt at extortion in which he was so sedulously assisted, failed miserably. In the trial of the case it was proved that he was not "the financial backbone" man of the DAILY AND WEEKLY OREGONIAN during his connection with the establishment and the jury in their verdict stated that neither six thousand dollars nor any other sum was justly due him from that office for his services. It also came out why he had been forced to begged and fawned or his now patron should not be dragged into anything by the investigation of days gone by and to that delusion. The proprietor of the paper did not appreciate the sort of financial ability that Mr Davidson exhibited specimens of which were shown in Court and clearly proved. If anybody else chooses to accept him as a business agent" and to "acknowledge and confirm his acts," they are at perfect liberty to do so. The proprietor of the OREGONIAN begs to be excused from the farther infliction of such financiering.

WHISKY AND FLOUR.—Not long ago a report came on Cincinnati announcing that there were twenty thousand barrels of flour in the city, and one hundred thousand barrels of whiskey. This disparity forcibly reminds one of Falstaff's memorandum of having only "a pen'orth of bread to an intolerable deal of sack." Cincinnati evidently thinks with honest Iago, that wine—or whiskey being a good familiar creature, if well used." And the Queen City and her customers use it well as is denoted by the fact that in her markets there are five barrels of this article to one of the staff of life. A city that has these two articles in this proportion probably considers itself temperate, and such no doubt it is, according to the idea of temperance which is given by Sir Hildebrand, in the novel of Rob Roy. This old knight, who was another Falstaff in his capacity for drink, advised his nephew to gradually injure his brains to bear a gentleman like quantity of liquor." This, for a beginning, he thought should be a "regular quart of claret a day, which, with the aid of March beer and brandy, makes a handsome competence for a beginner in the art of toping." He assured the company that he had known many a man who by following this plan, had become able to carry off their six bottles under their vest very quietly and comfortably, without brawling or babbling, and be neither sick nor sorry the next morning." But Cincinnati, with her five barrels of whiskey to one of flour, is probably not the only city where lessons are taken after this style in the 'art of toping."

THE OVERLAND MAILS.—The Idaho Statesman has the following:

Judge A G Cook, who arrived a few days ago with an emigrant train across the plains, relates what he saw of mail matters on the road. The train crossed Medicine Bow about the 23d of June. At that place he saw a pile of mail bags—about a wagon load—lying by the side of the road in the mud. Some of them were leather sacks locked, and some canvas bags tied. He was there two days, and saw Wells, Fargo & Co.'s coaches passing by both ways, and no notice was taken of the pile of mail matter. He saw mail bags lying about in different places along the road—sometimes at stations and sometimes by the side of the road. In one place, bags of mail matter were thrown into mud holes to walk over upon, and he walked over them himself and others did the same. Newspapers were plenty at such places, everybody had them. At another place a letter bag was found in the road cut open. Judge Cook also says the road was in good traveling condition. It was not only not impassable, but it was not bad, so that excuse cannot be alleged for leaving the mails.

DATES TO AUGUST 8.

Indians Attack the Pacific Railroad.

SALT LAKE, Aug 8.—The Indians are encamped in force within two miles of Plum creek on the Union Pacific Railroad. It is hoped that a party will get through Fort Mcpherson to-morrow.

JULESBURG Aug 8.—We have the following particulars of the capture of the train of cars lately reported. The Indians captured a party of five men with a hand car on their way to repair the telegraph line. Three of the party were killed one wounded and the other escaped. They then managed to throw a freight train coming west off the track when pouncing on the men they killed them all except the conductor and burned the entire train with its contents. No trains have passed the break. A passenger train due here yesterday is expected to arrive this evening. No train left here either yesterday or today.

STATE ITEMS

Heavy fires are raging in the mountains in Jackson county.

P S Willis has resigned the office of Recorder of Salem and C N Terry has been elected to succeed him.

The Salem Record says that on Saturday night Mr Abner Cornelius, who lives south of town eight or ten miles had a barn burned containing all his hay, three horses threshing machine wagons &c. One horse belonged to a boy stopping there on his way to school at Albany, who also lost a suit of clothes in his baggage, which was destroyed.

J M Johnson, J L Ladd, A W Lucas and Melchi Johnson, constituting a committee appointed by the Christian Brotherhood for the purpose mentioned below, sends us the following: We a committee appointed by the State meeting at Monmouth July 1st, to permanently locate a site for the annual State meetings of the Christian Brotherhood, thus met pursuant to appointment at Nathaniel Ford's and proceeded to select a site. Various points were examined, but the choice fell on a site tendered to us by Mr Ford which will be deeded and left in the hands of a committee of arrangements to be fitted up and prepared for the next meeting, which is to begin on Thursday before the third Lord's day in June 1868, at 4 o'clock P M and to hold over the fourth day. We have also thought best to have cooks employed and provisions furnished on the ground for all who may attend. To which end we solicit the churches to bring up a contribution to remunerate the cooks for their work. And would further recommend that for the sake of equal representation that there be one messenger sent up for each duly organized congregation and one additional for each twenty five members less the first twenty five. We believe the selection a good one, situated as it is, on the margin of a beautiful creek and thoroughly wood shaded. Will the brotherhood come up with a determination to make these great occasions interesting and profitable to all?

The Herald a day or two since contained a characteristic attack upon Dr Haynes, the gentleman who arrived here a short time ago as agent of the Freedmen's Commission. Probably such conduct as this is nothing more than what should be expected from such a source, as it is the constant habit of that paper to heap its columns upon every clergyman who is not known to be a secessionist or a sympathizer with rebels. In this instance the gentleman who is assailed will probably take no notice of the blackguardly attack that has been made upon him, and certainly the fact of his being so spoken of by this habitual defamer will go far toward establishing him in the esteem of all right-thinking people. Dr. Haynes is too well and too widely known to suffer in the least from these venomous attacks upon his character. Our only object in alluding to the subject is to call attention again to the common habit of the Democratic press of denouncing every minister and every organization, whether religious or otherwise, that is not laboring openly or in secret for their party.

FINE, DURABLE & CHEAP CLOTHING and Gents' Furnishing Goods are without doubt to be found at KOHN & FISHEL'S Clothing store, No 91 Front street, who can pride themselves of always having given satisfaction to their customers and long since have convinced the public that their prices are far below those of other houses.

Bushtel's Photograph Gallery is the only establishment in Oregon that is thoroughly prepared to do all the different styles of work in the art. Photographs from card to life size. The new cabinet cards, &c., &c. Small pictures enlarged (retouched in India ink—painted in water-colors or oil by Mrs S J Rumsey. Pictures that are fading can be reproduced in this way. All negatives taken in this gallery will be carefully preserved, and additional copies hard. I have now on hand a very large collection of negatives, the names of which are recorded alphabetically in a book for that purpose that can be seen in the reception room.

A BRICK MACHINE—RAPID WORK.—We went up to Mr. M. A. Eldridge's brick yard, yesterday afternoon, to witness the working of a brick machine invented by Mr. Eldridge. It is a small machine, attached to the mill for grinding clay and may be removed at pleasure The moulds, ready sanded, are placed in an open space in the machine somewhat in the manner of sliding a desk drawer into its place By the action of a hand lever, this mould is shoved along, under the mortar delivery, where it stops and is filled with mortar by the pressure of the load in the mill. Another lever moves a press, somewhat like a platen down upon the mortar and forces it into every part of the mould The same movement which slides an empty mould under the delivery, slides the filled mould out in front, where it is struck off and then carried away The mill is worked easily by one horse There are six mortar pits in a line and some three or four rods apart. The mill is moved from one to the other on a railway track. Last year Mr. Eldridge had a mill at each mortar pit; but this year he uses but one mill and when one pit is exhausted, he moves it to another This can be done in about ten or fifteen minutes To show the economy of the invention and the present mode of manufacturing, it is only necessary to state that yesterday, seven hands laid out 20,500 good bricks, in nine and a half hours' work Mr Eldridge is confident he can, with nine hands, in ten hours, make 30,000 bricks and lay them out upon the yard. He will manufacture, this season, about 1,000,000. The water for use in the yard, is raised on a large tank, from King's creek by a hydraulic ram. Mr. Eldridge's moulding machine has one decided advantage over any of the moulders driven by horse or steam power. While the work can be done about as rapidly, there is no danger of crushing the moulds or breaking the machinery In case a stone or root gets between the platen and the moulds, as the workmen can instantly feel when such a thing occurs In such a case, the machine is opened by simply removing a hasp We saw it occur once while we were there, and the obstacle was removed in less than twenty seconds, without injury to any part of the machinery The bricks made by it are compact, of good shape and all corners full

THE MEETING FOR THE POOR OF THE SOUTH.—The meeting in the Presbyterian church, Sunday evening was well attended, and represented the different classes of society in Portland. Most of the churches were closed for the occasion, and several clergymen were in the pulpit. Mr. Haynes spoke for an hour and set forth the importance of the work, particularly the necessity for material aid and schools for the time being, giving many interesting facts illustrating the different points. This work relates not only to the freedmen, but to the whites. A collection was taken at the close, amounting to $180, currency. The meeting in the court house Monday evening was called to order by Elder Holman, and in the absence of Senator Corbett, who was to have presided, Rev. Dr. Atkinson was placed in the chair and C. Beal, Esq., appointed Secretary. Rev. Dr Haynes briefly stated the cause of the American Freedmen's Union Commission with particular reference to schools for the South. In the reconstruction of the country, the ignorant, whether black or white, must be educated to prepare the people for the franchise which has already been bestowed upon so many of the colored, as well as others. The question, said Dr. Haynes, is not so much, ought the freedmen to vote, as shall they be educated for them for the vote which the nation has so plainly decided they must have. Cards were circulated for subscriptions, and the Chairman, with the Rev. Dr. Haynes, was authorized to appoint a committee to take charge of this work in Portland, and the following gentlemen were appointed D. W. Williams, Chairman and Treasurer; Henry Failing, and A. Hurgren.

THE "LAWSON" FRAMES ON THE COAST.—At the shop of Mr. John F. Walker, where we went, yesterday, in company with Mr. Nester, we examined three door frames, two of which were completed, for the Front of the Taylor street M. E Church. Mr. Walker has made a splendid job of these frames, though he has never actually executed on them about all he will get for the work. They are each eighteen feet in height, seven in width, and regularly arched It required for each frame about one thousand feet of lumber, mostly redwood The mouldings which are deep and of very heavy members, were made upon a shaping machine, being handled by Mr. Walker himself. Each section of each member was shaped by itself and afterward put together without trimming, except to fit the ends The cost of each frame is about $150. When set in place in the building, they will stand upon a stonework, in two sections, modeled after the design of the fine frames. In the same place, we were shown the design of the central front window frame for the same church building. It is to be eighteen feet in width and forty feet in height, with gothic tracery, and will cost between $800 and $900. It will require, in its construction, not less than four thousand feet of redwood lumber. This will be the largest window on the Pacific coast, being some feet larger than those of the Unitarian Church, in San Francisco. The frames are made by Mr. Walker, under the direction of Mr. John Nester, architect of the building.

THAT MATRON!—The meteor of Wednesday evening, July 31st, turns out to be a more extensive institution than was at first supposed. It was seen at Salem, Lafayette, Vancouver, Dalles, Walla Walla, Astoria, Olympia, Idaho City, and Silver City, Idaho, from each of which places notices of it have come to us. In each place it appeared to be moving from the East to the Northwest. One of the most singular things connected with its appearance was its apparent nearness to the spectators. Here, it was described as being just over East Portland. At Astoria it was just over the range of hills on the north side of the river. At the Dalles it was as big as a "flour barrel," and just across the river. At Silver City, according to the Avalanche, it was about the size of a "whisky barrel," and "just over the crest of the mountain east of town." It "bursted," in the gap above the Cowyhee mills, and finally disappeared "behind the high rock that bears the flag staff" At Walla Walla, it was "just out — the creek. At Olympia it was just across "mud bay." At East Portland, it was just over Jones' barn, and at Lafayette, just over Smith's grocery. And so everywhere, it was only a little way off. When we shall get the Boston Post and the Sitka Iceberg, we shall be by no means that it was seen "just over the Mystic river," and "just over the great bear."

AN INGENIOUS GAMBLING DODGE.—Chinamen are proverbially ingenious in certain ways; but in nothing more so than in the invention of gambling devices. A friend thus describes one of these: A Chinese butcher cuts a slice of pork from a hog's head, leaving it attached to the head by a very small bit of the skin. As many as sixteen (in this case) other Chinamen, then lay down each a quarter of a dollar of which the butcher takes a moiety for the value of the meat and his trouble in conducting the game. Each Chinaman poises the bit of meat in his hand and marks on a piece of paper his guess at its weight. When all have passed in their ballots containing their guesses, the butcher severs the piece from the head and weighs it. The lucky John who guessed best the exact weigh takes the meat and the money. In the case mentioned, the slice of pork weighed a very small fraction over one-half ounce and the winner had got exactly a half ounce. The whole proceeding was accompanied by an immense deal of loud talking, gesticulating and excitement. There are several regular gambling hells among the Chinese residents on Alder and Yamhill streets, where the inmates make night hideous till long after midnight.

ENGRAVER'S OF ARCHITECTURAL DRAWINGS.—The designs drawn by Mr. John Nester, for the M. E. Church now in progress of erection, have been photographed by by Mr. Joseph Buchtel, for distribution among the ministers and others attending the Conference, and the friends generally, of the church. The pictures exhibit the original front and side views, subsequently abandoned when it was concluded to front the building on Third instead of Taylor street; the front as now being built; the basement plan and the audience room. The pictures are fine specimens of the art of photographing and exhibit the building as it will appear when completed. Persons desiring any of them can procure them at Mr. Buchtel's rooms.

LAST DROVE OF SHEEP.—A large drove of fine, fat sheep was driven through the city yesterday forenoon and ferried across the river to East Portland. We did not learn to whom they belonged, but Mr Levi Knott assured to be in charge. Considerable difficulty was experienced in getting them aboard the ferry boat, and the various escapades of the sheep, the pursuits by the drivers and the uproarious shouts of the boys, attracted a large crowd of spectators. The maneuvers of a very intelligent shepherd dog were watched with much interest.

RECORDER'S COURT.—In the Recorder's Court yesterday morning, the case of Jacob Koenig and John Doe, charged with breaking the windows of a China house, was called up and the parties not being ready to proceed, was continued till 2 o'clock this afternoon.

In the case of the State vs Hee Choy and Pong Gu, charged with keeping a bawdy house, the defendants gave bail and the hearing was continued until this afternoon.

CIRCUIT COURT—SHATTUCK, JUDGE.—Proceedings of Thursday, Aug. 8th.

Wm. Davidson vs H. L. Pittock; argument concluded and submitted to jury; verdict of jury in favor of the defendant. The plaintiff gave notice of a motion for a new trial.

Ilfeld, Well & Co. vs. H H Snow; jury empannelled and part of the testimony heard

NORTH FRONT STREET.—The property holders on either side of North Front street between C and E, have recently filled up the street to the established grade and within the last week, have nearly completed very substantial sidewalks on both sides—an improvement which has long been much needed. That part of the street used to be a place to be shunned by teamsters and persons of fastidious tastes.

COUNTY COURT.—The following are the proceedings of yesterday

The petition for the location of a county road commencing at a point on the state road, opposite S. J Potter's house, thence to the Portland and Sauvie's Island road, and the report of the viewers thereon, were read a second time and the road was established.

STANDARD MILLS FLOUR.—Since our item about Imperial Mills flour being sent to Boise, we have been informed that several shipments have recently been made, of the Standard Mills brand Since the mill started, it has not been able to fill all the orders for the country east of the mountains and keep up with the regular demand for San Francisco.

ERROR.—In our report of the proceedings of the Circuit Court for Tuesday, there was an error as to the party obtaining judgment, in the case of Gaughran vs Loryea. The judgment was in favor of the plaintiff instead of the defendant.

PASSENGERS.—The Cascade, yesterday, brought about seventy five passengers, of whom over one half were from the mining country Several of them brought considerable sums of treasure.

WILLAMETTE FRESHET.—The Senator, yesterday, brought down, from Oregon City, 9 gunnies hops, 1 case of woolen goods, 6 bales do., 22 boxes fruit and 13 bales wool.

WASHINGTON COUNTY AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—The Washington County Agricultural Society has purchased fifty three acres of land which they have enclosed with an eight feet fence. The race track is a full mile and is said by persons well posted in regard to such things, to be the best mile track in the State The Society offer very liberal premiums—$100 for the fastest running horse $300 for the fastest trotting and all other premiums in proportion The aggregate amount of premiums offered by the Society is not less than $1,000

ENGINE AND LADDER PRACTICE.—Williamette Engine Co No 1, and Vigilance Hook and Ladder Co were out last evening at the corner of Morrison and First street, for practice.

TREASURE.—Wells Fargo & Co, received last evening $32,000 in treasure from the upper Columbia and Idaho

HOW DO YOU LIKE IT?—Rubber Neck Ties at 25 cents, at Barman Bros, corner Front and Morrison street. Who can beat that?

MINING IN JACKSON COUNTY.—The Sentinel has the following

Mr. Jesse Titus, who has been traveling over the country to some extent, furnishes us some very interesting mining items At Steamboat City, Mr. Wm Harriot & Co. are making "big money." Their claim prospects well. Mr. T saw several large nuggets, taken from this claim, weighing, respectively, twelve and a half ounces, six ounces and five and a half, besides these large pieces the company is making four and five dollars per day to the hand—fine gold. This claim is situated on a large bar, a little below the Fowler Quarts Mill. It is supposed by many that the 1,000 dollar nugget, found by a Chinaman a few months since, came from this bar It has been asserted that these claims are only rim-rock diggings, but if such is the case, they are paying well. This company have considerable ground and a good water privilege.

Mr. Titus represents the Stirlingville camp as being a live place. The miners are all doing well, with a good prospect ahead. There are no Chinamen at work in these diggings Messrs. Saltmarsh & Co.'s claims are paying well. Mr. T. saw one hundred and fifty-four dollars picked up in one day by the company, while shoveling dirt into the ground sluice, and sixty-six dollars as the product of another day's labor. When the final clean up is made, they expect to take out a large sum of money. This company have ground enough to keep them employed ten years. The claims of Wm. Wilkins & Co. are paying equally well. The boys are a jolly set of fellows, and aim to make life as pleasant as possible.

PERFECTLY EVAPORATED.—Such were our feelings as we stepped into the Music and Art Gallery of W. T. SHANAHAN, on First street, a few days since, and listened to the delightful tones and harmony which came from one of WOODS & HAMLIN'S Cabinet Organs. From the soft breathing flute tones to the thundering bass of the pipe organ, all was equally free and sweet. And why is it other makers cannot produce instruments like these? Mason & Hamlin were the first to introduce the Cabinet Organ, and have gained such world-wide notoriety that it requires the work of two large factories to supply the demand for these valuable instruments.

Gov. Woods, in his Siskiyou county speech, took up the Civil Rights' Freedmen's Bureau, and Reconstruction Acts of Congress, explaining them so clearly that it carries conviction to the hearts of all thinking men, that Barman Bros. sell fine Clothing 30 per cent., less than any other store in their line, and not hard to prove it, by calling on them on the corner of Front and Morrison streets (formerly City of Paris Store). Fourhundred Tea dozen India Rubber Neck Ties left yet and are offered for sale at 50 cents each.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED STOMACH BITT

Spanish Bear Hunters.

In the mountains of Asturias, there exists a species of bears of gigantic size and fearful physical strength, but, on the whole, tolerably mild and peaceful. There would be, therefore, no reason to persecute them so pertinaciously were it not that their hides are much prized by the English, and that bear ham is considered in Madrid a great delicacy.

Although it is more dangerous, and places human life in greater peril, than any other sport, even more than chamois hunting, still bear hunting is the greatest passion of the Austrians, and owing to their constant practice, almost from boyhood, it seems to the men of Asturias, notwithstanding its many dangers, mere child's play.

The following account of a bear hunt is given by a person who witnessed the scenes he describes:

During a tour I made in Spain I happened to pass through the province of Asturias, and had an opportunity of being present at one of its celebrated bear hunts. I was riding once in the early gray of the morning, when I observed about eighteen or twenty men dressed from head to foot in sheepskins, only that the woolly side was turned towards. Some of these men have long sharp knives—the rest had merely armed themselves with strong sticks. None of the huntsmen carried fire-arms, and on my asking the reason of this, they informed me that it would be a much too dangerous proceeding to attempt to kill a bear with a gun, for if the aim was not exact, it being necessary that the ball should pass through the eye into the head of the colossal animal, the sportsman would be irretrievably lost. Irritated by the wound, the bear would rush upon his enemy and tear him to pieces with his powerful paws. Even were the shot successful, its report would arouse the female bear and her cubs, which would greatly increase the danger and trouble.

I joined the party of active fellows in order for once to have the satisfaction of witnessing such a hunt, and set forth accordingly with two of them along the path in the woods. The huntsmen separated and went in different directions, always taking care, however, that one man who was provided with a knife, and another who was only armed with a club, should keep together. The former is called in Spain the "knife-swinger" or "trade-sicker," and it is he who, properly speaking, kills the bear; the latter is termed the "trade-seeker," and upon him devolves the most dangerous portion of the sport.

We had scarcely proceeded a few thousand paces home in the trees when we discovered an unusually fine bear coming toward us. The huntsmen permitted him to approach close upon them, when deliberately and boldly the "trade-seeker" stepped before him, brandishing his stick at the same time in a threatening attitude toward the animal. This challenge seemed to provoke the bear, for he immediately raised himself upon his hind legs, and roared in rage, flashing with anger, upon his dauntless assailant.

The Spaniard now flung his club aside and quickly closed with the bear in a struggle for life and death. The symptoms of the fearful combat depended upon the single movement being skillfully and powerfully executed. The assailant seeks with dexterity to encircle the head from the widely opened jaws of the infuriated animal by bending forward until his arms and touches the throat of the bear, which he presses with such force that it is impossible for it to breathe. Did the Spaniard allow the bear only a minute's time, he would have cost him his life for his bold attack.

The bear commenced a terrible struggle, the termination of which was watched with the greatest anxiety. The infuriated animal sought to free himself from the close embrace by thrusting his paws against the chest of the "trade-seeker;" but the latter had wound his legs round the hips of the bear and protected himself from the crushing hug of the paws. In vain the bear now tried to bury his teeth in the back of the assailant. The fight all the time at his throat rendered his attempts somewhat futile, he could scarcely tear a few tufts of wool from the sheepskin in which the daring sportsman had wrapped himself.

At this moment the "knife-swinger" sprang up to the bear and plunged his sharp weapon up to the hilt behind his shoulder blades. That a fatal wound was thus inflicted on the animal, now did it appear to be less necessary to do this or that; the blow ought never to be repeated. It was a fearful sight to see the terrible bear fling his paws around the form of the huntsman and turn his head of. There was indeed the narrator of this adventure to have found himself in removing his prey, for the bear, in the last throes of death, would assuredly destroy the godless Fabio, and certainly such an accident has happened from that time to this.

MEETS AGAINST GROWING TOMATOES.—Too great a quantity of tomatoes cannot be grown, or consumed in any community, as there is no more healthful or economical vegetable produced. As an article of diet for winter consumption, it ranks in importance, in nearly every family, with the apple and potato, and its cheapness places it within the reach of the masses. An old and experienced grower of this vegetable gives the following hints as to its cultivation, which are just in season as the young vines will soon require whatever training is to be given them:

"One would suppose, that at this late day, we knew pretty much all about cultivating the tomato, but it seems that we do not, inasmuch as we daily see recommendations as to the best mode of getting the most fruit. Some people train the vines over elaborate trestle work or frames, at no little expense; others trellis them; others stick them with brush about the size or a little larger than that used for peas; others simply throw brush down for them to run over; others allow them to creep over the ground without any support, only previously mulching the ground with grass or straw. We have tried every mode here mentioned, and we have found that whether the plants are staked, brushed or allowed to run over the ground unsupported, the yield is about the same. Frames and trellises are not so productive. We prefer the staking process. It produces fruit as great a crop as any other mode; and if the brush be firmly inserted in the ground it admits of passing between the rows to pick the fruit. When the vines are allowed to run over the ground unsupported, however much the ground may be mulched, the flavor of the tomato is more or less extracted by the unnatural attraction of the soil, by which the fruit is rendered almost worthless; besides the vines are all in a mass, and to get at the fruit is inconvenient to the picker and injurious to the crop."

A girl of nineteen dressed in soldier's clothes, was lately arrested at Buffalo. She gave her name as Ann King, said she was from Syracuse, where her parents reside and that she had seven sisters and eight brothers, that they were very poor, and she, with four other sisters, had been obliged to don male attire and drive teams on a canal for a livelihood.

Both Cincinnati and St. Louis are excited on the subject of railroad cut-offs. The little Miami Railroad does more Southern business around Cincinnati than through it, and there is imminent danger that the great overland trade will cross the Mississippi one hundred miles above the city of St. Louis.

Lindley, the preacher, who some time ago whipped his child to death, and was imprisoned for a long time, was recently granted a new trial. It was concluded June 24, the jury failing to agree. The prisoner, when the jury was discharged, immediately pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the fourth degree, and was sentenced by the Court to pay a fine of $250.

A St. Petersburg correspondent says that the Czar took with him to Western Europe gold snuff boxes, linen and breeches, bracelets, etc., to the value of 100,000 roubles, or somewhat more than $125 000, besides 1,500 orders, of which twelve are the St. Andrew. They were to be given away to persons who manifested courtesies to his Majesty, or who performed services that could not well be paid with money.

A young man named Latta of the Charter Oak Base Ball Club, of Hartford, is said to be one of the best runners in the country. In traveling from one base to another—a distance of ninety feet he makes but fifteen jumps, averaging six feet at each leap. It is believed he can come home from the third base against the most successful pitchers and catchers—taking advantage only of the time, under the rules, for the passage of the ball back and forth necessary to put a player out.

Medical.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES. NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1856, for the treatment of Seminal and Sexual Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies and see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. He therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emiss
